

FAIRY TALES: FOR KIDS

- VEER
SUKHADIYA

CONTENTS:

- 1. THE SHEPHARD’S AWARD
- 2. ALLADDIN: THE MAGIC
- 3. MULLAH NASRUDIN’S HILARIOS MISHAP
- 4. THE MONKEY & CROCODILE
- 5. LORD KRISHNA’S BIRTH
- 6. GULLIVER’S TRAVELS.

Veer Sukhadiya Books

Copyright © 2024 The self-publishing platform called Kindle Direct Publishing (KDP).

All right reserved No part of this publication will be transmitted in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior permission of the publisher.

Conditions of Sale: this book is sold with the condition that it will not, by trade or otherwise, be resold, hired out, lent or otherwise distributed or circulated in any form of style of binding or cover other than that in which it is published and without the same conditions being imposed on the subsequent purchaser.

1.The Shephard’s Award

CHAPTER ONE: THE BEGINNING

LONG AGO, IN A TOWN OF IRAN LIVED A POOR SHEPHARD.HE WAS SO KIND THAT HE GAVE PEOPLE SOME ADVISE TOO. THIS TALKS REACHED TO THE LARGEST CITY OF IRAN & TO THE KING ALSO. AFTER FEW DAYS, THE KING DECIDED TO CHANGE HIS LOOK AS A POOR MAN AND TAKE HIS TEST. THE SHEPHARD WAS SO POOR THAT HE COULD NOT HAVE A HUT OR A SMALL COTTAGE TO LIVE. HE LIVED ON A MOUNTAIN HAD A CAVE. WHEN THE KING CHANGED HIS LOOK,

HE SAT ON HIS MULE AND REACH AT

HIS CAVE. WHEN THE KING WAS GOING FROM THERE THE SHEPHARD TOLD HIM TO STOP AND ASKED, "HEY MAN YOU LOOK SO TIRED COME IN, HAVE SOME REST." THE KING TIED HIS MULE ON A FENCE AND ENTERED THE CAVE. THE SHEPHARD OFFERED SOME WATER AND THE FOOD HE EARNED HARDLY

GAVE HIM SOME FROM THAT ALSO. THE KING GOT IMPRESSED. IT WAS LATE NIGHT SO THE SHEPHARD ASKED THE KING TO REST THAT NIGHT IN THE CAVE. NEXT MORNING THE STRANGER WAS LEAVING AND THE SHEPHARD TOLD "THANKS MAJESTY." THE KING COULD NOT UNDERSTAND. HE ASKED HOW DO YOU KNOW THAT I AM A KING? THE SHEPHARD REPLIED AND TOLD THAT AS YOU WERE NOTICING EACH AND EVERY THING IN THE CAVE, I UNDERSTOOD YOU ARE A KING. THE KING FROM THE FIRST WAS IMPRESSED ED AFTER TELLING HIM. NEXT MORNING THE KING CALLED HIM IN HIS COURT AND MADE HIM A GOVERNOR OF A SMALL DISTRICT IN IRAN. FOR HIS WISDOM, HIS HOSPITAITY, HIS BEHAVIOR. SEENING THIS THE OTHER GOVERNORS GOT JEALOUS OF THE SHEPHARD. THEY MADE A PLAN AND TOLD THE KING "HEY, MAJESTY THIS SHEPHARD IS COLLECTING MORE TAX FROM

THE PUBLIC AND STEALING SOME MONEY FROM IT. BEHIND HIS MULE HE KEEPS AN IRON CHEST HE KEEPS THAT STOLEN MONEY, GOLD, DIAMONDS. AFTER A WHILE THE KING CALLED THE SHEPHERD, THE KING TOLD ONE OF HIS SERVANTS TO BRING THE IRON CHEST. WHEN THE KING OPENED THE CHEST THERE WAS NO MONEY, NO GOLD, NO DIAMONDS! JUST THERE WAS AN OLD TORN BLANKET. THE KING ASKED, "WHAT IS THIS?" THE SHEPHERD REPLIED "MAJESTY HE IS MY MASTER IT HELPS ME IN EVERY TIME OF LIFE. IT IS MY BEST FRIEND." LISTENING THIS THE KING PUNISHED ALL THE GOVERNORS AND MADE THE SHEPHERD THE GOVERNOR OF THE BIGGEST DISTRICT OF IRAN. HIS HE GOT MORE IMPRESSED.

CHAPTER TWO: THE BAD TIME

AFTER A FEW YEARS THE KING WAS ILL HE TOLD THAT "I AM GOING TO DIE, I CAN'T LIVE." THE KING SAID THAT AFTER ME THE KING WILL BE ONLY THE SHEPHERD." NOW THE SHEPHERD WAS THE KING NOW. AFTER GETTING A HIGH POST A LOT OF MONEY, HE DIDN'T USE THEM, HE JUST LIVED IN THE SAME CAVE. HE GAVE ALL HIS MONEY IN DONATION. NOW WHEN THE SHEPHERD DID NOT HAVE WORKLOAD, HE THOUGHT TO START A BUSINESS HE WENT TO DIFFERENT COUNTRIES AND SOLVE PEOPLE'S PROBLEMS. ONE WHEN THE SHEPHERD WENT TO INDIA TO HELP PEOPLE IRAQ ATTACKED IRAN WHILE THE KING WAS OUT OF COUNTRY SOME OF THE SECURITIES WERE WITH HIM THE REPORTED

THE KING, HE RETURNED IRAN IMMIDIETLY
AND A WAR STARTED IRAQ WANTED TO RULE
THE IRAN AFTER A MANY OF THE SOLDERS OF IRAN WHEN DIED THE SHEPHARD STARTED TO ATTACK IRAQ. THIS WAR RAN FOR 14 MONTHS
THE SHEPHARD DIED BUT AT LAST KAZAKHSTAN SAVED IRAN.

STORY IS ONLY FAN MADE BY THINKING.

2. Aladdin: The Magic Lamp

Aladdin is a popular Middle Eastern folk tale that has been adapted into various forms of media, including films and stage productions. The story revolves around a young boy named Aladdin who lives in the fictional city of Agrabah.

Aladdin is a street urchin who survives by stealing and outsmarting the citizens of Agrabah. One day, he encounters a sorcerer named Jafar, who disguises himself as an old man. Jafar convinces Aladdin to go inside the Cave of Wonders, a magical treasure trove, and retrieve a magical lamp for him. However, the cave is enchanted, and only a "diamond in the rough" can enter.

Aladdin enters the cave and discovers a plethora of treasures but is warned not to touch anything except the lamp. He finds the lamp and grabs it before the cave begins to crumble. As Aladdin rubs the lamp to clean off its dirt, a magical Genie appears, promising to grant him three wishes. Aladdin befriends the Genie and uses his first wish to transform himself into Prince Ali to impress Princess Jasmine, the daughter of the Sultan. Aladdin arrives in Agrabah as the flamboyant prince and gains the attention of everyone, including Jasmine. However, Jasmine is unimpressed by his facade and desires genuine love and connection.

Meanwhile, Jafar discovers Aladdin's true identity and schemes to steal the lamp for himself. He plans to marry Jasmine to become the Sultan and use the Genie's power to rule the kingdom. Aladdin, with the help of his loyal monkey companion Abu, must navigate through various obstacles and eventually defeats Jafar.

In the end, Aladdin reveals his true identity to Jasmine and the Sultan and admits that he is not a prince but a humble street urchin. Despite his initial deception, Aladdin proves himself to be honorable, courageous, and selfless. The Sultan recognizes Aladdin's qualities and allows him and Jasmine to marry, making Aladdin the new Sultan of Agrabah.

With Genie's freedom granted by Aladdin's final wish, he bids farewell, leaving Aladdin to lead a prosperous and happy life with Jasmine as they rule Agrabah together.

Please note that there are different adaptations and variations of the Aladdin story, and the details may vary depending on the version or retelling.

Some thoughts for Kids:

"Success is not final, failure is not fatal: It is the courage to continue that counts." - Winston Churchill

"The only way to do great work is to love what you do." - Steve Jobs

"The best way to predict the future is to create it." - Peter Drucker

"Strive not to be a success, but rather to be of value." - Albert Einstein

"The harder I work, the luckier I get." - Thomas Jefferson

"Believe you can and you're halfway there." - Theodore Roosevelt

"Opportunities don't happen. You create them." - Chris Grosser

"The secret of getting ahead is getting started." - Mark Twain

"Success is not the key to happiness. Happiness is the key to success." - Albert Schweitzer

"The journey of a thousand miles begins with one step." - Lao Tzu

3. Mullah Nasrudin's Hilarious Mishap

Once upon a time in the bustling town of Baltistan, there lived a witty and mischievous character named Mullah Nasrudin. Mullah Nasrudin was known for his clever antics and ability to turn any situation into a comedy. One day, he found himself in the middle of a peculiar adventure that would leave the entire town in stitches.

It all began when Mullah Nasrudin's decided to visit the local market. As he strolled through the vibrant stalls, he noticed a peculiar-looking fruit cart with a sign that read, "Magical Mangoes – One Bite, One Wish Granted!" Intrigued by the promise of magic, Mullah Nasrudin couldn't resist the temptation and bought the juiciest mango the vendor had to offer.

Excited about the possibilities, Mullah Nasrudin took a big, dramatic bite of the magical mango. To his surprise, nothing happened. No genie appeared, and no wishes were granted. Disappointed but undeterred, I decided to make the most of the situation.

He began to shout in the middle of the market, "Oh, magical mango! Grant me the wish of becoming the world's greatest juggler!" Mullah Nasrudin then proceeded to juggle the remaining mangoes on the fruit cart, causing a spectacle that attracted a growing crowd.

The onlookers couldn't believe their eyes as Mullah Nasrudin showcased his newfound juggling skills with an array of fruits. Laughter echoed through the market as the crowd cheered and clapped for the unexpected performance. Mullah Nasrudin's hilarious juggling act continued, with him incorporating acrobatic moves and comical expressions.

Soon, a local circus owner happened to be passing by and witnessed Mullah Nasrudin's impromptu performance. Impressed by the spectacle, the circus owner approached Mullah Nasrudin's and offered him a job as the main comedic act in the upcoming circus show.

Mullah Nasrudin, always ready for a good time, accepted the offer with glee. He became the star of the circus, delighting audiences with his comedic juggling and entertaining antics. The townspeople couldn't believe their luck in having such a talented and amusing performer in their midst.

And so, Mullah Nasrudin's misadventure with the magical mango not only brought joy and laughter to the people of Baltistan but also turned him into a beloved figure in the town. From that day forward, whenever someone mentioned the magical mango, everyone would burst into laughter, remembering the day Mullah Nasrudin unintentionally became the world's greatest juggler.

4. The Crocodile and The Monkey

Once upon a time, in the heart of the lush and vibrant jungle, there lived a mischievous monkey named Kavi. Kavi loved to swing from tree to tree, chattering away with his fellow monkeys and playing pranks on the other jungle inhabitants. Little did he know that his carefree life was about to take a wild turn.

One day, Kavi decided to take a break from his usual antics and explore the serene river that meandered through the heart of the jungle. As he reached the riverbank, he noticed a friendly-looking crocodile named Chandra sunbathing on a rock.

Curious and always up for making new friends, Kavi approached Chandra with a cheerful greeting. To his surprise, Chandra responded with equal warmth, and soon, an unlikely friendship blossomed between the monkey and the crocodile.

As the days passed, Kavi and Chandra spent their time-sharing stories and playing games along the riverbank. Kavi would swing from the trees and land on Chandra's back, and they would go on short rides up and down the river. It seemed like an idyllic friendship, but little did Kavi know that Chandra harbored a secret desire.

One day, Chandra approached Kavi with a hesitant look on his face. "Dear friend," said Chandra, "I have a family, and we often struggle to find enough food. I've heard that you monkeys have the most delicious heart. Would you be willing to give me your heart so I can share it with my family?"

Kavi was taken aback by the unusual request. He couldn't fathom giving away his heart, but he didn't want to disappoint his friend either. So, quick-witted as ever, Kavi responded, "Oh, dear Chandra, my heart is not something tangible. It's full of love and friendship. However, I can show you where the juiciest fruits are, and we can share them with your family!"

Relieved, Chandra agreed to Kavi's suggestion, and together they set off on a journey to find the most delicious fruits in the jungle. As they gathered fruits and shared them with Chandra's family, the crocodile realized the true value of Kavi's friendship.

From that day forward, Kavi and Chandra continued their adventures, exploring the jungle together, and their unlikely friendship became a symbol of harmony in the heart of the wild. The monkey and the crocodile, despite their differences, proved that understanding and kindness could overcome even the most unexpected challenges in the magical world of the jungle.

5. Lord Krishna's Birth

The divine tale of Lord Krishna's birth is a cherished and sacred story in Hindu mythology. It is recounted in the revered scripture, the Bhagavata Purana. The story begins in the ancient city of Mathura, ruled by the tyrant king Kamsa.

King Kamsa was a ruthless and cruel ruler. A prophecy had foretold that the eighth child of his sister, Princess Devaki, would be the cause of his downfall. Fearing this prophecy, Kamsa imprisoned Devaki and her husband, Prince Vasudeva, in a dungeon. Kamsa vowed to kill each child born to Devaki to prevent the fulfillment of the prophecy.

As the days passed, Devaki gave birth to seven children, and each time, Kamsa took the infant and callously ended its life. Devaki and

Vasudeva were heartbroken, yet they remained steadfast in their devotion to the divine.

The night when Lord Krishna was to be born, the atmosphere was charged with anticipation. Lord Vishnu, the preserver of the universe, took the decision to incarnate as Krishna and end the tyranny of Kamsa. As Krishna's birth approached, a divine aura filled the prison cell, and all the guards fell into a deep sleep.

In the stillness of the night, Lord Krishna was born. Miraculously, the prison doors opened on their own, and Vasudeva, guided by divine intuition, carried the newborn Krishna in a basket across the overflowing Yamuna River to the village of Gokul. That night, the river made way for Krishna, parting its waters to create a safe passage.

Upon reaching Gokul, Vasudeva exchanged baby Krishna with the newborn daughter of Yashoda and Nanda, the cowherd couple in Gokul. Vasudeva returned to the prison cell with the baby girl, and the prison doors closed once again.

In the morning, Kamsa arrived at the prison, eager to end the life of the eighth child. However, the divine intervention had taken place, and the child who would be Kamsa's nemesis had already been safely transported to Gokul.

Lord Krishna grew up in the loving care of Yashoda and Nanda, engaging in delightful childhood escapades and endearing himself to the people of Gokul. As he grew older, Krishna's divine nature began to reveal itself through his miraculous deeds, teachings, and ultimate guidance in the epic Mahabharata.

The story of Lord Krishna's birth is not just a tale of divine intervention but also a narrative of love, faith, and the triumph of good over evil. Krishna, with his enchanting flute and playful charm, continues to be adored and worshipped by millions, symbolizing the eternal and cosmic play of life.

6. GULLIVER'S TRAVELS

"Gulliver's Travels" is divided into four parts, each documenting Lemuel Gulliver's voyages to different imaginary lands. Here is a more detailed overview of each part:

Part I: Lilliput

Lemuel Gulliver, a ship's surgeon, is the protagonist of the story. His first voyage is to Lilliput, a land inhabited by tiny people who are about six inches tall. Gulliver, being a giant in comparison, initially faces difficulties in communication and understanding their customs. However, he gains favor with the Lilliputians by helping them in their war against the neighboring island of Blefuscu. The conflict arises over the proper way to crack an egg, illustrating the trivial nature of political disputes. Gulliver eventually falls out of favor and escapes after refusing to help the emperor conquer Bellusci.

Part II: Brobdingnag

Gulliver's second voyage takes him to Brobdingnag, a land of giants. Here, Gulliver is the miniature being, and he encounters numerous challenges as he navigates a world where everything is enormous. The Queen of Brobdingnag takes an interest in Gulliver and treats him as a curiosity. Gulliver engages in discussions with the king about European history and society, criticizing the flaws and vices of humanity. He eventually escapes when a giant eagle carries him away to sea.

Part III: Laputa, Banbihari, Lugging, Gulbuddin, and Japan

Gulliver's third voyage is a series of adventures in different lands. He visits Laputa, a floating island inhabited by impractical intellectuals; Banbihari, a land of misguided scientific endeavors; Lugging, where he encounters the Strandburg, immortal beings cursed with eternal life; and Gulbuddin, a place where Gulliver meets historical figures and learns about the flaws of famous individuals. The part ends with Gulliver returning to Japan before heading home.

Part IV: Houyhnhnms and Yahoos

In the final part, Gulliver's ship is caught in a storm, and he ends up on the land of the Houyhnhnms. The Houyhnhnms are intelligent, rational horses with a utopian society based on reason and virtue. Gulliver befriends them and learns about their orderly and harmonious existence. However, he discovers another race on the island, the Yahoos, who are brutish, filthy, and resemble humans. As the story unfolds, Gulliver realizes that the Houyhnhnms consider him more akin to the Yahoos than to themselves. Ultimately, he becomes repulsed by his own humanity and prefers the company of horses.

Gulliver is eventually discovered by a European ship, and he is taken back to England. However, he is unable to reconcile with human society, finding the behavior of people repugnant after his experiences in the various imaginary lands.

